

Breast Cancer Screening Project

Breast cancer is the UK's fifth biggest cancer killer. However, early diagnosis can save lives. Breast screening data shows that only three quarters of women in West Sussex take up the offer of screening who can.

Currently, women are automatically invited for their first breast screening between the ages of 50 and 53. Thereafter they are invited every 3 years until the age of 71 years. After 71 years women can request breast screening.

The sooner breast cancer is diagnosed; the more effective treatment is likely to be. Screening can pick up breast cancer before there are any signs or symptoms.

We want to understand the reasons' women do not take up the Breast Cancer Screening invitation to influence a positive change.
